(JOÃO GARCIA MIGUEL)

Freedom and Theatre are two axes which guide the building of our activities, training and dissemination. These two concepts move us by an importance, that interacting produces the society in which we live in, contributing to the growth and improvement of individuals in search of a draft humanity shared by investing in creativity as the basis of the difference and the capacity for change of the worlds in which we live. We believe that the daily exercise and achievement of individual freedom is concomitant with the increasing freedom of those around us. Such is the duality that delimits and defines the quality and ambition that we are and what we want: that others can be increasingly free.
